TO PRESERVE THE SOFTNESS OF FLANNEL GARMENTS, FOLLOW CAREFULLY THESE DIRECTIONS FOR WASHING.

Dissolve thoroughly in boiling water some IVORY SOAP, shaved fine. Add sufficient warm water to wash the flannels in one by one.

Don't rub any soap on the flannels, but knead them well in the solution.

Don't rinse them in plain water, use a fresh supply of the solution, warm, and well blued, for the purpose.

Don't wring tightly with the hands, use a clothes-wringer. The freer from water you get these garments the softer they will be.

Hang them out immediately, if the weather will permit; if not, dry before the fire. If left to stand wet, the flannel will certainly shrink.

Never wash flannel in water too hot to bear your hand in.

Never rinse them in cold water.

Always use IVORY SOAP, it is the best, much experience has proved this.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

THE LESSON OF THE LEAVES.

Oh thou who bearest on thy thoughtful face
The wearied calm that follows after grief,
See how the autumn guides each loosened leaf
To sure repose in its own sheltered place.
Ah, not forever whirl they in the race
Of wild forlornness round the gathered sheaf,
Or, hurrying onward in a rapture brief,
Spin o'er the moorlands into trackless space!
Some hollow captures each; some sheltering wall
Arrests the wanderer on its aimless way;
The autumn's pensive beauty needs them all,
And winter finds them warm, though sere and gray.
They nurse young blossoms for the spring's sweet call,
And shield new leaflets for the burst of May.

—Thomas Wentworth Higginson in The Century.

HARRISON AND THE IRISH.

Republicans Swear They "Didn't Hear Him Say It."

In 1876 Benjamin Harrison made a speech in Bloomington, Ills., and during its progress a person who interrupted with questions was put out of the hall. This incident occasioned comment from the speaker, and now after twelve years it gives rise to a series of affidavits and counter affidavits.

Mr. William Condon, Mr. Michael F. Purcell, Mr. Robert Sanders, Mr. John A. Wilson and Mr. A. G. Creed, all for many years respectable citizens of Bloomington, make sworn statements, corroborating and in some instances amplifying with fuller details the statement of facts thus set forth in the affidavit of Mr. Purcell:

Michael F. Purcell, being first duly sworn, deposes and says that he is a resident of Bloomington, Ills.; that a few days before the Hayes-Tilden election in 1876, on one afternoon at Durley hall, in Bloomington, he attended a Republican meeting, which was addressed by Ben Harrison, the present presidential candidate; that Harrison during his speech on that occasion praised the different races that took part in suppressing the rebellion, but did not mention the Irish; that as Harrison was quitting that portion of his address an old Irishman asked: "What was the matter with the Irish, and where were Sheridan, Mulligan, Shields and the rest?" that to this question there followed shouts of "Put him out," and then they took the old gentleman from the hall; that Harrison then said, in answer to the question: "It is easy to know that man's nationality; we had more of them to contend against in the late rebellion than we had with us in the Union service; they are only good to shovel dirt and grade railroads; if it were not for them we would not need half our penitentiaries." Affiant cannot now remember all the abusive words Harrison then used against the Irish, but is positive Harrison used the above language, affiant's memory of the speech being good, because, among other things, he spoke of the matter afterwards, before Harrison's nomination, and also because as soon as the meeting was over he had a hot dispute with a man about the correctness of Harrison's remarks about the Irish in the late war, affiant then claiming Harrison's language to be untruthful and uncalled for. And affiant swears that Harrison's words against the Irish were followed with great applause.

Against this testimony, direct and cumulative in positive assertion of what took place, a number of prominent Republicans offer negative testimony. They swear that they were present and do not remember, or that they do remember, and that nothing of the sort could have occurred.

In weighing this evidence there are two points of great importance:

The first is that before Harrison was nominated at Chicago his speeches were considered of so little importance politically that they were never reported in full. There is no verbatim report of any of them on record, except reports in The Congressional Record of what little he said in congress—where he said nothing worth reporting on any of the great issues of the day. The only reliance for what he said in making his bitter speeches against the Greenbackers, against organized labor and against the opponents of sumptuary laws are the synopses in local papers, re-enforced by the memory of men who heard him. Laborers remember that he abused them bitterly for their organized attempt to obtain better wages. Republicans in plenty swear that it is impossible their candidate for president could have said such things. It is, then, between positive memory and the negative memory of opposing witnesses that choice must be made in weighing the evidence.

The other important point in the Bloomington case is that the Republican stump speaker who did not abuse the Irish in 1876 was eccentric. The Irish were supposed to be irrevocably committed to the Democratic party. They were grossly caricatured and abused in the Republican press. Republican speakers who had gone into that party after the failure of the Know Nothing movement attacked the Irish from every stump. There could have been nothing, then, in anything Harrison could have said against the Irish in his Bloomington speech that would have struck his Republican audience as remarkable or impressed it as memorable. When the Republican weeklies were filled with bogus statistics of the number of Irish in the penitentiaries, a Republican audience would not be likely to remember for twelve years or for twelve days any repetition of these trite slanders from the mouth of a then obscure stump speaker.

Now that Harrison is making "a dead set" at the Irish vote; making speeches to his alleged "Irish friends," in visiting delegations which have been drummed up by the campaign committees, prominent Republicans are greatly shocked at the suggestion that he has not always dearly loved the Irish. They will even persuade themselves that they and their party have always loved Irishmen above any people on earth; and they will make affidavit to a large number of circumstances, all going to show that if it had been otherwise they would certainly have remembered it.—St. Louis Republic.

Couldn't Shut Him Up.

It looks as if Blaine regarded the Republican campaign this year as his own private trust, with which neither national nor state committees have any right to interfere. They wanted to cut him down to two speeches in Indiana—for the good of the party of course—but they quickly discovered that it is one thing to propose and another to dispose of the matchless leader. He will talk just as much as he wants to.—Brooklyn Citizen.

The Rebel Bonds.

The English syndicate of Confederate bondholders (which includes Morton's London partners) will read with great interest the "letter of acceptance" promulgated by the late director of the Canadian Pacific. These Englishmen are so ignorant of American affairs that they do not know he is accepting nothing but an opportunity to be bled for the benefit of the boys.—St. Louis Republic.

The Proxy Candidate on "Trusts."

Candidate Harrison differs from Mr. Blaine on the subject of trusts. He knows better than to openly adopt the Blaine idea that the people are powerless against the trusts. But then the people will not forget that Harrison is only a vicarious candidate, and if elected would be simply a proxy president. Blaine, defender of the trusts, will not be elected by proxy.—Boston Globe.

Mr. Harrison and the Republican managers tried to cancel nearly all of Mr. Blaine's stump engagements in Indiana. Mr. Blaine never could get a "fair trial" in that state.—Chicago Herald.

Something New in Leather.

Persons on the outlook for odd things in the way of foot gear have something new in leather in what is called by the trade Kordofan. This is really horse hide, a small part of the skin from the rump of each animal being available for the shoes. It is said to be pleasant to wear, and to last forever or thereabouts. The supply comes from the wild horses of South America and from the zebra and quaggia of Asia. The demand is not yet so extensive as to threaten the extermination of those species.—New York Sun.

Consequences of Physical Inertia.

An American business man appears to be born with a disinclination to walk. I have seen half a dozen at a time stand around the entrance to a hotel elevator, wasting several minutes in waiting for the machine to come for them rather than mount one flight of steps. As a consequence of this physical inertia most business men of the present day have weak muscles, and especially weak hearts, so that should they be obliged to exert themselves to even a slight degree their limbs become exhausted and tremble like "a reed shaken by the wind," their respiration becomes hurried and difficult, and their pulses beat at the rate of 125 a minute, or even more.

It is only necessary to stand at the corner of a street through which a street railway passes and to watch the men and women leaving their homes directly after breakfast, and running a hundred feet or so at the top of their speed to catch an approaching car, as though it was the only one by which they could go down town, and their lives depended on getting into that particular vehicle. How they pant and blow and turn red in the face, and gesticulate wildly at the conductor and drop into their seats thoroughly exhausted from the comparatively slight exertion into which they have been forced by their love of business! Many minutes elapse before they recover their mental and physical equanimity. Not a year passes that the newspapers do not record several deaths that have occurred from this practice, and which would not take place if the subjects had been in the habit of taking sufficient muscular exercise. In such people the heart is suddenly subjected to a strain to which it is not accustomed, and it gives way in the effort to accomplish the work required of it. I venture to say that of those who read these observations not one in ten can ascend the steps of an elevated railway station as slowly as he pleases without having the action of the heart nearly doubled in frequency. A rapidly beating heart is almost invariably a feeble heart.—Dr. William A. Hammond.

Cycling Down a Mountain Side.

The long seven mile coast began. The road wound down around horseshoe curves and loops without number, and as it was on the east side of the smaller valley which led down at right angles to the Rhine valley I had to ride on the outer side of the roadway in order to be on the right side. At first, in turning some of the sharp curves to the left where I could see nothing ahead but air and the hills of Switzerland twenty miles away, I slowed up some, for the road was visible for only twenty or thirty feet ahead, and where it went to then I was totally ignorant, but after riding a mile or two down over roads so smooth that the running of the machine was scarcely audible, I let up on the brake a little and away I went faster and faster.

One finger was sufficient on the brake at first, but after a few miles that one began to get cramped and two fingers were applied. Then the brake spoon began to get hot, but still I could not see the foot of the mountain. About half way down the water of the Rhine began to show itself over the edge of the road as I came to those sharp turns to the left, and then I knew where the bottom was. It actually seemed that, if I went straight ahead, I should land in the river, how many hundred feet below my blurred eyes could not clearly discover. Once I met a team and yelled, but the oxen were on their own side and I went by them with a rush all right. Another time some children saw me coming and ran down the sides of the mountain scared out of their wits. Still I went like the wind over the same steep grade and smooth road down from top to bottom, without mishap, but with a feeling I never before experienced in coasting that I was glad I was at the bottom. How long it took me to come down I do not know, but I waited six minutes at the base for the Englishmen.—Bicyclist George R. Thayer in New York World.

To Keep the Eyes Beautiful.

To have beautiful sightly eyes, we must have strong, sound ones, and avoid all causes of harm. Never read, write or work with the light from a window in front of the eyes. Artisans injure their sight past recovery by working at a bench directly in front of a window, when they should be placed with the back to it. The light in front falls into the eye, which contracts to lessen what it cannot bear, with the invariable result of weakened sight. Lamps, gas jets and student lamps are often placed so near the head as to heat the eyes injuriously. The simplest shade stops this by making a current of air between itself and the lamp.

I quote from Dr. Jeffries' highly interesting pamphlet on "Our Eyes and Our Industries." He speaks very decidedly on the injury to the eyes of wood engravers in cutting from photographs on the block, making the blurred and misty pictures too familiar in papers and magazines. The work is cheaper, but, oculists find, most destructive to the eyes, and the better class of engravers either refuse such work or raise their prices nearly double. The wear and tear comes of looking constantly from the photograph to the original picture hung before it and continually changing the focus of the eye. I am glad to know this has awakened attention, for I know that looking at the soft, blurry wood cuts is very trying to sensitive eyes. So is the satiny, calendered paper which certain publishers protest is necessary for fine impressions, although finer work is done abroad upon dull paper. The gloss and glitter of much of the modern house decoration injures the eye by the broken reflections it is forced to meet on all sides. The varnished paint, the metallic finish of walls and fabrics, the breadth of plate glass and painted glass are simply destructive to good sight. They may answer for people who never read, like the Turks and Bulgarians, but eyes overtaxed like those of our professional and many of our artisan classes are, quickly find this glitter suicidal.—Shirley Dare's Letter.

Slight Impurities in Metals.

The astonishing changes that small proportions of foreign matter will produce in metals are not necessarily of small practical importance, as very slight impurities in metals for certain purposes might lead to serious consequences. Roberts-Austin gives two striking illustrations of this possibility. A small fraction of bismuth in copper will reduce the electrical conductivity sufficiently to cause any submarine cable made with it to become a commercial failure, and the message carrying power of copper cables is said to have doubled since the early days of telegraphy on account of the increased purity of the copper. Pure gold has a breaking strain of from sixteen to seventeen tons to the square inch, but when alloyed with but two-tenths of one per cent. of lead it will break with a slight blow or under a trifling strain.—Arkansaw Traveler.

That's About the Size of It.

A correspondent writes to ask if we can give him the gist of the political situation in a nutshell. Yes; and we don't need a cocoanut shell, either—an ordinary filbert shell will serve our purpose. The people of this country have a fixed habit of letting well enough alone. Grover Cleveland has handled public affairs in a way satisfactory to the business men and the workingmen of the country. They propose to allow him to do the same thing four years more. There you have the whole story.—New York Herald.

Too True, Too True.

One of the gifted intellects that preside over the destinies of the Republican party in the Hoosier state poetically remarks, apropos of the Plumed Knight's western stumping tour: "Mr. Blaine is a gorgeous political humming bird and understands the art of extracting sweets wherever he goes; but he will find very little honey in Indiana this trip."

A College Course.

In the United States one man in every 200 takes a college course; in England, one in every 500; in Scotland, one in every 600; in Germany, one in every 213.

THE FOE OF FRAUDS.

Contrast Between Blaine and Cleveland Shown by the Former.

As a stump advocate Mr. Blaine fares no better in the west than in the east. His unfortunate allusion to trusts at Portland is appropriately supplemented by his discussion of pensions at Detroit. In much bitterness of spirit he finds fault with the president for vetoing private pension bills while there is a surplus in the United States treasury. From the tone and tenor of his complaint the logical inference is that if he were in Mr. Cleveland's place the measures would have received official sanction. In other words, he would have signed the bills regardless of the illegality of the claims they embodied. Than this avowal no better illustration could be given of the broad distinction between the methods of Mr. Blaine and Mr. Cleveland in public life. No pretense is offered by the partisan critics of the president that any deserving applicant for a pension has ever been deprived of his or her rights by executive action. Mr. Cleveland's vetoes have been directed not at those who were entitled to relief, but at the cormorants, adventurers and hypocrites who, under cover of patriotism, attempt to swindle the government and despoil honest pensioners. If there is any ground on which the present administration can challenge criticism in preference to another it is the record on pensions. During little more than three years in office President Cleveland has signed more pension bills than were signed by any of his predecessors, and within a fraction of as many as were approved by all of them put together. To his untiring industry and faithful devotion to duty are attributable the detection and exposure of the fraudulent claimants whose appeals for relief have been rejected. Because Mr. Cleveland carried into the presidency the conscientious regard for his official obligations that distinguished him in the governorship of the empire state he has stood steadfast as the uncompromising foe of pension thieves and all other thieves alike. It is by reason of Mr. Cleveland's rugged honesty and resolute courage and of Mr. Blaine's lack of these qualities that the former is in the White House and the latter is on the partisan stump. The American people with unerring instinct have not failed to mark the difference between the upright public servant and the brilliant but unscrupulous demagogue.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Candidate on Labor.

The Indianapolis Journal has taken a new tack in the controversy over the question whether Mr. Harrison ever said that a dollar a day was enough for a workingman. Now that a reputable citizen offers to swear to the truth of the story The Journal modifies its original proposition and announces its willingness to give a reward of $2,000, provided a Democratic judge and a Democratic jury, following the usual legal methods, will decide that the accusation is proved.

Perhaps The Journal has been reading The New York Tribune. Not long ago a western Democrat offered to forfeit $10,000 if three Republican judges of the supreme court of Wisconsin would declare President Cleveland's message a free trade document. The Tribune grew savagely sarcastic over the suggestion. It called the western Democrat a humbug, because it said that everybody must know that no judge would drag his position into politics in the way proposed. Perhaps The Journal, taking a hint from its New York leader, adopted a plan that it thought would be safe.

Meanwhile it may be of interest to reproduce the affidavit which has called out the latest signs of activity from Mr. Harrison's organ, and to mention the fact that the threat of the Republican managers to arrest the signer for perjury has not yet been fulfilled:

STATE OF INDIANA, } ss.
MARION COUNTY. }

John G. Schwartz, being duly sworn, testifies, under oath, that he was employed by the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis railway in July, 1877; that he went on a strike on the day that the strike took place, on or about July 19, 1877, for an increase of wages; that he was present at the conference meeting in the old council chamber, held during the period that said strike lasted, where Benjamin Harrison, Albert G. Porter and other prominent citizens spoke with reference to the strike. That he heard Benjamin Harrison say that they (the strikers) were lawbreakers, and as such were not entitled to any sympathy whatever from the public; that the said Benjamin Harrison (now a presidential candidate) further said that the men ought to return to their work; that the railroads could not afford to pay higher wages; that the wages were enough, and that $1 per day was enough for any workingman; that he himself could live on that amount. And that Benjamin Harrison further said that if the men did not return to work the militia should be brought into service and the men forced to return to work. JOHN G. SCHWARTZ.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 25th day of September, 1888.

JOSH T. FANNING, Notary Public.

—San Francisco Examiner.

No More Sectionalism.

Every one who earnestly desires to see a united country, and who deplores the means so often resorted to in order to revive sectional strife, may take courage from the visit of the Philadelphia Brigade association to Virginia, and the hearty welcome which has been extended to its members by brave men who once encountered them in the shock of battle. The harmonious shouts that rang yesterday through Fredericksburg are so many assurances that the days of hate and bitterness between north and south have passed away forever.—Philadelphia Record.

He Did Not Want to Know It.

Is it possible that Mr. Blaine doesn't know that Secretary John Sherman had more public money deposited in a single national bank in New York, when he was at the head of the treasury, than Secretary Fairchild now has deposited in all the national banks in the country?—Boston Herald.

Evidently Miss Dickinson left the stage for its good, and even the stump, with all its ribaldry, would be improved by her absence.—Memphis Avalanche.

Losing His Grip.

Mr. Blaine should have learned reasonableness and patriotism from Chauncey M. Depew. The latter magnetic man denounced as absurd the idea that one-half his fellow citizens were bent upon ruining American industries and degrading American labor. But Mr. Blaine told his Detroit audience that "England seeks entrance into this market, and the Democratic party, following the lead of President Cleveland, is doing all it can to destroy our home market and give a large share of it to nations beyond the sea." Mr. Blaine seems to have lost his grip.—New York World.

LOG CABINS have mostly disappeared as human habitations. Many good people have lived happy lives in them, and many great men have been born in them. Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla and "Tippecanoe" Stomach Tonic, made by Warner of Safe Cure fame, are reproductions of the best of the old time remedies, with which the pioneers of America maintained their rugged health.

The President and the Chinese.

There is this to admire in the character of President Cleveland. He is typical of the people. He acts with their emotions. He does not set up a better-than-thou policy, a policy which the electorate has so often repudiated.

Whether China like it or not—whether or not we lose our tea and fail to sell our kerosene in the bamboo town of Canton—matters little to the people in this stage of their international philosophy, and therefore it matters little to the president. He returns to congress, with his approval, the act which is meant to exclude all Chinamen who may not be here for travel or diplomacy. The executive function is here as bold as the popular dogma. The people of America are ready for the issue. Let it come. So is the president ready.

The act excluding the millions of the east is possibly the most important American legislation touching foreign affairs since the declaration of the war with Mexico. That question barely opens with the present resolution of the nation. It is at best a set of words engrossed on paper and signed by various officials who may feel some pride in writing their names in prominent places. But after the act of saying the words and writing them, the yellow men are to be kept out, and that will be a reality precisely as the yellow men are kept out. The trouble of guarding our vast coast against so many proscribed persons may fail, as cholera and yellow fever quarantines always fail, and no person can say that a sentry will be so fearful of a Chinaman with money as of a pauper refugee from pest. It may be expected that the patience of the Celestials will excite the impatience of the Caucasians, and that reprisals may follow the collapse of quarantine. We cannot expect to persecute great China without a response in kind from that despotism. The determination taken at the outset must support the calamities of trade prohibition and racial disorders. In the forthcoming difficulty America will doubtless be as steadfast as China.

It is creditable to the president that, hearing these things whispered on every side by doctrinaries, he has neither vetoed the bill nor waited for time to give the measure effect without his nod.

A Boomerang Orator.

Fire Alarm Foraker is ringing in the east at present, and to this cause is doubtless to be attributed that increase in the number of cases of deafness which the Connecticut otologists have noticed. Foraker is, in his way, a powerful speaker. For instance, he let himself out at Bridgeport the other day, and in consequence there was for some time a report in central and western Massachusetts that the Springfield gas house had blown up. At Stamford, on the evening of the same day, he performed the remarkable feat of talking the hands off the clock in the opera house. Much complaint was made by pilots and captains of vessels in the Sound that the fog horns and bell buoys could not be heard, such was the noise of the rampant and sonorous Buckeye. So that as far as producing an ocean of tempertuous sound waves is concerned, the governor of Ohio has done all that could be expected of him. He has erupted with violence, and that is what he was brought to the seaboard for.

As to the effect of his eloquence, however, there may be different opinions. When he was imported into this state, three years ago, it was admitted by many Republicans that he was doing his party more harm than good, and there was a disposition to return him without thanks. He is not calculated for these latitudes.

A curious interest, then, attaches to this Orphic sentence from The Tribune, describing the result of his labors with the folk of Stamford town:

"The speech had the immediate and practical effect of making many converts."

Now, which side did the converts come from? Can it be that Fire Alarm is scaring Republicans into the Democratic party?—New York Sun.

Pickwickian Hatred.

Charitably passing the point of propriety in Blaine's speech in Canada, where he addressed himself ingenuously to the subject of annexation, it may be noted that wherever this zealous hater of the British shows himself in the Dominion he is greeted with exulting admirers and guns that strive to go off faster.

If these ovations were the sequence of a trip by Cleveland, the "lover of England," the "agent of English mills," the "well known candidate of the Cobden club," the affair would give less trouble to the befogged spectator of events. A colonial serenade to Cleveland would agree with Republican doctrine, but to see Canadians running down the railroad track after Blaine, and yelling their loyal heads off in honor of one who has sworn by all the mackerel of Newburyport to have the last gout of their base blood—this must be a chapter from "Pickwick." Where are Snodgrass and the rest?—Chicago Herald.

A Baseless Hope.

Able editors have suddenly broken out with the enthusiastic announcement that Speaker Carlisle is to be beaten for congress this fall by Mr. Hamilton, who has been nominated by the Republicans. It gives them occupation that keeps them out of political mischief and has no effect on anybody else.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Wise Son of a Crafty Father.

Senator Don Cameron, of Pennsylvania, wisely says that "sometimes too much talking in politics does a great deal of harm." He has noticed that when, in the course of much talking, Messrs. Blaine and Harrison accidentally allow a truth to escape them, they can never recapture it afterwards.—St. Louis Republic.

An Open Door for Fraud.

The Republican senate wants free whisky for the arts. This is in the line of the Republican drug store whisky for medicine in Iowa and Kansas. If all whisky needed for artistic and industrial purposes is to be free, no whisky will be needed except for artistic and industrial purposes.—St. Louis Republic.

He Will Do It Again.

Blaine is in Indiana to stump the state for James G. Blaine. This is as it should be. It must not be forgotten that Blaine stumped Indiana in 1884 for the same person that he is stumping it for now, the result of which was Indiana gave a Democratic plurality of 6,512.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Singing and Swearing, Too.

The Republicans are trying to make this a singing campaign. The reason is the same as that which sets the small boy to whistling as he passes the graveyard—the nervous fear that something awful is going to happen.—Brooklyn Citizen.

First Fiddle to Somebody.

In the grand orchestra of life everybody is anxious to play first fiddle. Nay, almost everybody does play it; for although the first fiddle absolute may take precedence of all the rest, yet every second fiddle is first fiddle to somebody. As "fleas have smaller fleas to bite 'em, and so on ad infinitum," so every man who tickles a superior has an inferior to tickle him. If it were not for this pleasant arrangement we should have no social harmony, and it is only when this system of relations is disturbed that we experience discords and crashes.—New York Ledger.

Gilbert at a Rehearsal.

W. S. Gilbert, the librettist, is a tall man, with gray hair and close cut whiskers. He is a great stage manager. At a rehearsal of one of his operas he devotes his whole energies to having everything go off as he thinks it should. He never smiles, even when a whole chorus is laughing at the quaint conceits of his verses. Though extremely dignified, he does not hesitate to go through the drollest contortions of body or the most free and easy dance step to illustrate his ideas to those who are to interpret them.—New York World.

Nevada Miners Dyed Green.

A contract has been let on the Martin White mine, at Ward, Nev., and work is to be resumed forthwith. A queer phenomenon is connected with the working of the Martin White ore. The ore is very base, and it is necessary to roast the whole of it. During the roasting process no deleterious or disagreeable fumes are observable, yet the hair and the beards of all the men engaged about the works are soon dyed a bright and permanent green. Even the eyebrows of the workmen are as green as grass. In scores of Nevada mines ores of various kinds are smelted and roasted, but at none of them is either the hair or beards of the workmen changed from their natural hue. It is said there is less arsenic in the ore of the Martin White than in that of many other mines. Old smelters say arsenic has no such effect on the hair, and all declare that the emerald hue imparted to the hair is due to the presence of some unknown and mysterious metal or mineral. White, light and sandy beards and hair take a grass green, whereas black or dark brown hair is dyed a deep bottle green. The hair is not injured by its change of color. It retains its original softness and strength.—Territorial Enterprise.

The Man of Real Force.

Contrary to general belief, then, the man of real force is never a bully, is never arbitrary or unjust, is never passionate, though he may be, and generally is, aggressive, and may, as occasion requires, give exhibitions of temper that is, nevertheless, kept in perfect control. Force of character brings with it self reliance and an imperturbable manner. Just as the really courageous man remains cool in the presence of danger, the self reliant man keeps his temper under provocation because he feels confidence in himself. The coward grows excited and loud mouthed to conceal his real feelings. The arbitrary man, accustomed to force his views upon others, loses confidence in and control of himself when he fails to make his usual impression. It is at such a moment that real force of character begins to tell; it is then that the self contained and self respecting man dictates his terms and asserts his power.—Baltimore Sun.

The Seaworthiness of Monitors.

The seaworthiness of the monitors has been thoroughly tested. The old Monadnock rounded Cape Horn in 1866 and behaved admirably in the long seas of the Pacific ocean. Soon after the civil war the old Miantonomoh made a cruise to Europe, encountering heavy weather. The seas would come over bow and stern four feet deep at times, but pass off quickly without even preventing the use of her guns. She rolled but 7 degrees, while the two ships accompanying her rolled 20 to 30 degrees. In the report of this cruise by Assistant Secretary Fox we find: "A vessel which attacks a monitor in a seaway must approach very close to have any chance of hitting such a low hull; and even then the monitor is half the time covered up with three or four feet of water, protecting herself and disturbing her opponent's fire."—American Magazine.

Agriculture of the Ainos.

The British consul at Hokodade states that the Ainos—who are a remarkable tribe of small, hairy people, originally living by hunting and fishing—have been in great straits since the occupation of their fishing grounds by the Japanese in 1869. Since 1882 efforts have been made to relieve their distress and to teach them farming, and in 1886 about 800 acres were cultivated by them. In their chief home, in the Island of Yesso, the Ainos are estimated to number 14,000 individuals, with 3,600 houses. They are supposed to be gradually disappearing.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Limits of Human Senses.

The limited nature of the human senses, whereby we may fail to perceive an all pervading "second universe," has been greatly emphasized by the progress of science since Isaac Taylor reasoned from it in his "Physical Theory of Another Life" half a century ago. Improvement in spectroscopy and photography show that invisible rays extend as far beyond the violet end of the spectrum as the length of the spectrum itself, and indeed must continue until the vibrations "become infinitely rapid and infinitely small." Some of these ultra rays can be made visible by interposing a substance that lessens their refrangibility.

Professor Stokes, the physicist, found that when a tube filled with a solution of quinine sulphate was moved along the spectrum, "on arriving nearly at the violet extremity a ghostlike gleam of pale blue light shot across the tub; it did not cease until the tube had been moved far beyond the violet extremity of the spectrum visible on the screen." The wave lengths of the spectrum sun rays have been measured, and we perceive only those that are from about one forty to one sixty thousandth of an inch; to all others we are blind. So of sound; the human ear, practically, hears only those sounds that come from forty to 4,000 vibrations of the air per second, though the possible limit has been traced to near 40,000. The microphone reveals a new range of notes, and it is conceivable that this instrument, in connection with sympathetic and harmonic vibrations, may bring down to audibility still higher sources of sound. It is not at all probable that any construction of mortal eye or ear could disclose the supernal; but it is certain that there is very much visible that we don't know how to discern.—The Forum.

Tabooed by the Czar.

Any book of poems which has the word "tyrant" in it cannot pass the Russian frontier. The czar thinks it a direct hit at him. An English book was lately tabooed because it had the sentence, "God's free air." All the air in Russia belongs to royalty.—Detroit Free Press.

A Sister's Right.

She—George, dear, I don't quite like the way you go on with Ethel White. And she is as familiar as a sister would be.

He—Yes, darling, that relationship was established last June at Saratoga.—New York Sun.

The Savage Way.

HOW THE INDIAN TREATS AN INJURY—OLD TIME METHODS.

The savage is emphatically the child of nature. He lives close to nature, his only education is gained in nature's school.

When the Indian receives an injury, he does not seek a cure in mineral poisons, but binds on the simple leaf, administers the herbal tea, and, with nature's aid, comes natural recovery.

Our rugged ancestors, who pierced the wilderness, built their uncouth but comfortable Log Cabins and started the clearings in the woods, which in time became the broad, fertile fields of the modern farmer, found in roots and herbs that lay close at hand nature's potent remedies for all their common ailments. It was only in very serious cases they sent for old "saddle-bags" with his physic, which quite as often killed as cured.

Latter day society has wandered too far away from nature, in every way, for its own good. Our grandfathers and grandmothers lived wholesomer, purer, better, healthier, more natural lives than we do. Their minds were not filled with noxious isms, nor their bodies saturated with poisonous drugs.

Is it not time to make a change, to return to the simple vegetable preparations of our grandmothers, which contained the power and potency of nature as remedial agents, and in all the ordinary ailments were efficacious, at least harmless?

The proprietors of Warner's Log Cabin remedies have thought so, and have put on the market a number of these pure vegetable preparations, made from formulas secured after patient searching into the annals of the past, so that those who want them need not be without them.

Among these Log Cabin remedies will be found "Log Cabin sarsaparilla," for the blood; "Log Cabin hops and buchu remedy," a tonic and stomach remedy; "Log Cabin cough and consumption remedy," "Log Cabin hair tonic," for strengthening and renewing the hair; "Log Cabin extract," for both external and internal application; "Log Cabin liver pills," "Log Cabin rose cream," an old but effective remedy for catarrh, and "Log Cabin plasters." All these remedies are carefully prepared from recipes which were found, after long investigation, to have been those most successfully used by our grandmothers of "ye olden time." They are the simple, vegetable, efficacious remedies of Log Cabin Days.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1888.

We take this occasion to remark that Benjamin Harrison is beaten.

Henry Budd, Esq., who spoke in the Opera House, last Thursday evening said that Philadelphia would not give 20,000 republican majority this year. The country districts should roll up immense democratic majorities to equal the efficient work done by the democrats in the city.

According to reports received, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa, are added to the doubtful column, with good indications for President Cleveland. They all believe in tariff reform, giving protection to the laboring man, by continued work in the factories, through the use of free raw materials.

A republican scheme to colonize colored men in Newark, N. J., has just come to light, and there is every reason to believe that a desperate attempt will be made to accomplish fraudulent registration. Chairman Price, of the Democratic committee, at Newark, says: "We have just learned of this and have already spotted thirty of the negroes imported in a bunch to register and vote the republican ticket in November. We are on the tracks of many more and will spare no effort to run the rascals down."

The reward of $25,000, offered by Col. Quay, the republican chairman, for the purpose of purifying the election in New York City, has not resulted as Mr. Quay expected.

The first man caught registering illegally this year was brought before Judge Cowing Tuesday. He was George Gordon, who registered from No. 143 Madison street two weeks ago. He pleaded guilty, saying he was drunk when he committed the crime, and was sentenced to two and a half years in Sing Sing prison.

"You are the first man arraigned for violating the Election laws," said Judge Cowing.

"I am informed by the officers that you are registered to vote in half a dozen places. A man who will deprive another of his vote through false registration ought to be deprived of his citizenship."

Gordon was arrested by Detective Cornelius Leary, of the Madison street station, and if the National Republican Committee carry out their promises he will receive $2,000 reward.

It is reported that the man arrested is a republican, and the reward will be claimed by the democratic policemen.

The negroes who have been colonizing in New York City for the purpose of swelling the Harrison vote are now leaving through fear.

One small particle in the eye pains the whole body. Use Warners Log Cabin Extract. It will cure many a pain.

Messrs. E. C. Caswell & Co., proprietors of the Bloomsburg Woolen Mills have ordered another self acting mule with 420 spindles. It is expected here in about ten days. The Bloomsburg Woolen Mills has lost no time since its commencement. They have regularly had large monthly pay rolls, and with this additional machinery we can look for an increase of laborers.

The poultice which draws out a man's virtues is the sod that covers his grave. If you don't want all your virtues known too soon, regulate your regulator with Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla. It makes pure blood which gives sound health. Largest bottle in market—120 doses for $1. Druggists.

The firm of Robbins & Allabach, Orangeville, Pa., having been dissolved by the death of the former, W. A. Allabach, who succeeds the late firm, is alone authorized to settle all business of the firm. Mr. A. Allabach will continue the business of wagon making at the old stand, where he will be pleased to receive a liberal share of the public patronage.

The Oft Told Story

Of the peculiar medicinal merits of Hood's Sarsaparilla is fully confirmed by the voluntary testimony of thousands who have tried it. Peculiar in the combination, proportion, and preparation of its ingredients, peculiar in the extreme care with which it is put up, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in the unequalled good name it has made at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, is the most popular and successful medicine before the public today for purifying the blood, giving strength, creating an appetite.

"I suffered from wakefulness and low spirits, and also had eczema on the back of my head and neck, which was very annoying. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I have received so much benefit that I am very grateful, and I am always glad to speak a good word for this medicine." Mrs. J. S. Snyder, Pottsville, Penn.

Purifies the Blood

Henry Biggs, Campbell Street, Kansas City, had scrofulous sores all over his body for fifteen years. Hood's Sarsaparilla completely cured him.

Wallace Buck, of North Bloomfield, N. Y., suffered eleven years with a terrible varicose ulcer on his leg, so bad that he had to give up business. He was cured of the ulcer, and also of catarrh, by Hulme & Houseknecht, Hulme's Mills, Benton, Pa., pay 58c and 62c for buckwheat.

Mr. Isaiah Bower of Berwick has been appointed member of the standing committee in pla ceof H. J. Dietterich, resigned.

Preparations are being made to have a Democratic mass meeting at Berwick upon the afternoon and evening of Monday Nov. 5th.

Mrs Harkins on Rock Street has been blind with cataract for some years. On Tuesday Dr. Brown performed an operation for the restoration of her sight.

Stakes were driven for a house Saturday last for Dr. Brown adjoining G. S. Herring, on Normal hill. Contractor Hensinger will build the house.

The Bloomsburg Car Company are busy now building the Burton stock cars. These cars are sent to the Western states to be used in shipping cattle.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is a purely vegetable preparation, being free from injurious ingredients. It is peculiar in its curative power.

Don't fail to see the English melo drama "Thrown upon the World" at the Opera House this Friday evening. Reserved seats now on sale at Dentler's shoe store.

The Hughesville Mail says: It is rumored that the proprietors of the hub factory contemplate moving their industry to Jamison City, Columbia county, because of the scarcity of timber in this section.

The Democratic mass meeting held in the Opera House, Thursday evening of last week was a decided success. The house was filled to overflowing. Prof. Hibbs of Pittston and Mr. Bubb Esq., of Philadelphia addressed the meeting.

M. J. Hess, graduate of the Philadelphia Dental college, will have his dental rooms in Lockard's building ready by Saturday. He will be pleased to see any one after that time.

There is no necessity for any one saying he cannot afford to smoke when he can buy 5 "Old Virginia cheroots" for 10 cents from any first class cigar, drug or grocery store. Alexander Bros & Co., Wholesale Agents, Bloomsburg, Pa.

About fifty thousand tickets were used by the Bloomsburg & Sullivan railroad company during the first year. This is certainly good showing for so short a road. If the road is continued over the mountain, which it surely will soon be, a much greater amount of travel can be looked for.

The annual Sunday School Convention of Scott township will be held in the Evangelical church at Afton, on Saturday afternoon and evening, Oct. 27. There will be a lecture in the evening by Rev. Sahm. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

Twenty-five cents a day purchases a $3,000 policy in The Travelers, of Hartford, which is payable in event of death by accident, with $15 weekly indemnity for wholly disabling injury. J. H. Maize, agent, second floor COLUMBIAN building Bloomsburg. tf.

The "Old Virginia Cheroots" are manufactured only by P. Whitlock, Richmond, Va., who is proprietor of the largest special cheroot factory in the world. Sold by retail druggists, grocers and cigar dealers everywhere. 5 for 10 cents. Alexander Bros. & Co., Wholesale Agents, Bloomsburg, Pa.

Warner's Log Cabin Remedies—old-fashioned, simple compounds, used in the days of our hardy forefathers, are "old timers" but "old reliable." They compromise a "Sarsaparilla," "Hops and Buchu Remedy," "Cough and Consumption Remedy," "Hair Tonic," "Extract for external and internal use, "Plasters," "Rose Cream," for catarrh, and "Liver Pills." They are put up by H. H. Warner & Co., proprietors of Warner's Safe Remedies, and promises to equal the standard value of those great preparations. All druggists keep them.

Buy Lester's School Shoes. Every pair warranted.

There's money for you in reading Clark and Son's advertisement this week.

Mr. F. B. Hartman wore a broad smile Wednesday morning all on account of the boy which came to his home Tuesday evening. Mother and son are both doing well.

A gentleman from out of town having tried a bottle of Dr. Shattuck's Helianthus the Rapid Oxygen Cure called on the Dr. to express his great satisfaction at the quick and effectual results in his case. He has paid hundreds of dollars for cough medicines and never found any thing to work so well as this. Why not get a 10 cent sample bottle at druggists and relieve that harassing cough which may result fatally.

GEORGE A. CLARK, P. M.

Success in life is the result of push and energy. If the blood is impure and sluggish, both body and mind lack vigor. To cleanse and vitalize the blood and impart new life to the system nothing else has such a marvelous effect as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Evans' Hall was well filled on Saturday night at the meeting of the Democratic Club, quite a number of ladies being in the audience. Geo. E. Elwell made the first address, in which he answered the arguments of the republican speakers at their meeting last week in the Opera House, and showed from authentic and unprejudiced history that the financial panics of 1837 and 1857 were not caused by democratic tariff laws.

Grant Herring followed in a brilliant and effective speech that aroused much enthusiasm and evoked frequent applause. He explained the workings of a high tariff in a clear and concise manner, and exposed the false pretense of the republican party.

Invalids should remember that the causes of sick and nervous headache may be promptly removed by taking Ayer's Pills. These Pills speedily correct irregularities of the stomach, liver, and bowels, and are the mildest and most reliable cathartic in use.

Resolutions of Condolence.

At a meeting of the Ent Post, No. 250, G. A. R., the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas it has pleased an alwise Providence to remove from our midst, our comrade B. H. Vannata, who was always faithful to duty while in active service defending his country's flag and preserving its honor and likewise always cheerfully responding while a member of this Post, to every call for aid to relieve the needs or suffering of those who have claims upon our organization, therefore be it.

Resolved: That we hereby express our sympathy for the stricken family in this, their grevious affliction and commend the example of our deceased comrade to all the surviving members of this Post, as worthy of imitation; so that when we are finally mustered out, it may be said of us as of him that wherever duty called, we cheerfully responded.

Resolved: That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Post and a copy of them be presented to the family of the deceased, and also be printed in the news papers of Bloomsburg.

Defeat is a school in which truth always grows strong. Though your disease baffle your physician, if you put your blood in good order with Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla, you can rely on finally growing well and strong. Pure blood means good health.

Mr. J. D. Wilson will please accept thanks for a fine lot of "Orange" apples left with us last week. They should be called pound apples, as every one of them would tip the scales at that point.

Dr. Theel, the great Specialist, for nervous debility, blood poisons, kidney and special diseases, has yet to find an equal in curing such diseases. He has complete mastery of the allopathic, homœpathic and eclectic systems of medicines which gives him the knowledge and ability to cure diseases pronounced incurable by leading physicians. If suffering we would advise you to consult him personally or by letter at 538 North Fourth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Torch Light Parade.

The Cleveland and Thurman club will give a torch light parade Saturday evening. All who can are requested to be present with horses. Procession will form at Evans' Hall, corner of Main and Iron Sts.

The boilers are being placed in the new silk mill. They are rated at one hundred horse power each. The mill will be ready for operation about December 1st. The delay now is caused by inability to get the piping for heating purpose.

The Baltimore Morning Herald says of "Thrown upon the world," which will be seen at the Bloomsburg Opera House Friday evening, October 26th: Rufus Scott's production of the English melodrama, "Thrown upon the World" drew a crowded house last night at the Front street theatre and made an immediate hit. The plot is interesting and well treated, and the scenery all that could be desired. Mr. Scott gave a good interpretation of the principle part, and was well supported throughout the play.

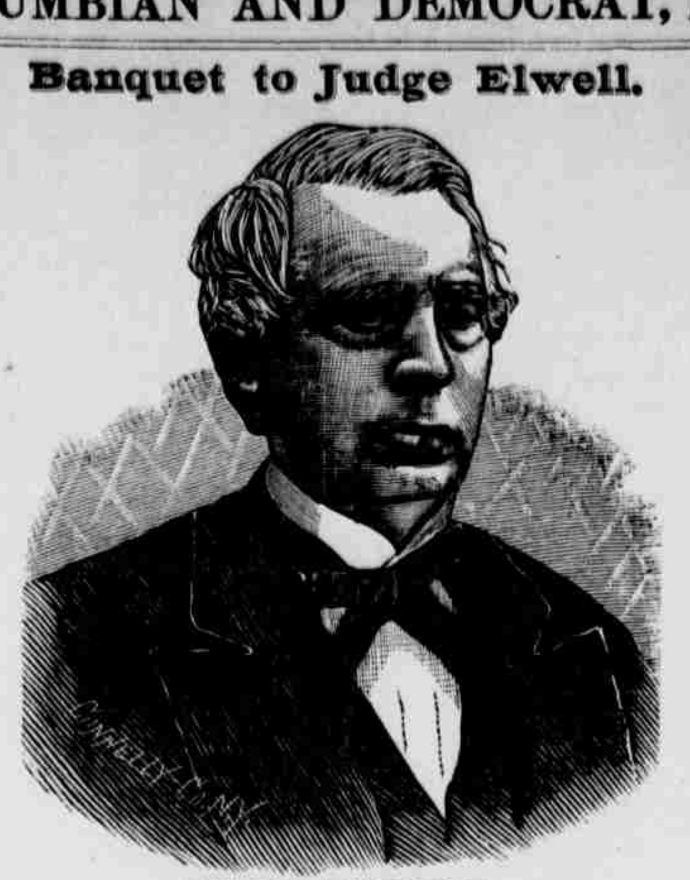
Mr. Abram Snyder of Espy, who has been seriously ill with nervous prostration for some time past is slowly recovering, and it is thought will now soon be fully restored, Dr. Redeker is the physician in charge and it is by his skill and faithfulness that Mr. Snyder is restored.

Have You Read About Oxygen.

At this season of the year when sudden changes of weather so often cause colds resulting in coughs more or less serious it becomes a necessity to procure a cough remedy. Why not try Dr. Shattuck's Helianthus, the Rapid Oxygen Cure. It gives immediate relief and leaves none of the unpleasant consequences peculiar to the vile opium compounds usually sold as cough remedies. Dr. Shattuck's Helianthus or Rapid Oxygen Cure for consumption, is sold at druggists in 50 cent and 10 cent sizes, the latter often being sufficient to cure a hard cough.

Harman & Hassert are busily engaged in erecting their new buildings. They will build the lower portion of it of brick, and the upper of frame. The stakes for the foundation were driven Monday. These enterprising men expect to be in operation before Jan. 1.

Banquet to Judge Elwell.



JUDGE ELWELL.

At a meeting of the members of the Bar of Columbia and Montour counties held in Bloomsburg on August 2, a committee was appointed to determine upon some appropriate action in recognition of the retirement of Hon. William Elwell from the Bench of this district. The committee decided to tender Judge Elwell a banquet, and invitations were sent out to the Judges of other districts who had presided here for Judge Elwell at any time, or for whom he has presided, and to the members of the legal profession of other districts who have practiced before him. The date finally fixed upon was Friday, October 19, and on that evening there gathered at the Exchange Hotel in this town a party of gentlemen embracing more distinguished jurists and lawyers than any similar occasion in this state has ever before drawn together.

THE GUESTS.

The following named visitors were present, many of them coming a long distance, and not allowing the inclemency of the weather to deter them from being in attendance to do honor to the guest of the evening:

Hon. W. T. Davies of Towanda, Lieutenant Governor of the state; Hon. J. B. McCollum of Montrose, at present President Judge of Susquehanna county, and democratic candidate for Supreme Judge; Hon. Franklin B. Gowen of Philadelphia, ex-president of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad; Hon. H. W. Palmer of Wilkesbarre, ex-attorney-general of the state; Hon. P. D. Morrow of Towanda, President Judge of Bradford county; Hon C. L. Pershing and Hon. D. B. Green, Judges of Schuylkill county; Hon. E. Albright of Allentown, President Judge of Lehigh county; Hon. C. E. Rice of Wilkesbarre, President Judge of Luzerne county; Hon. R. W. Archbald, President Judge of Lackawanna county; Hon. H. B. Payne of Wilkesbarre; Hon. J. B. Storm, of Stroudsburg, former member of Congress from this district; Geo. R. Kaercher, General Solicitor of the P. & R. Railroad; Col. Geo Sanderson, of Scranton; Rodney A. Mercur, son of the late Chief Justice Mercur, and D'Alanson Overton of Towanda; C. Larue Munson of Williamsport; L. Dewart, ex-district attorney of Northumberland county, and H. M. McClure of Sunbury; J. A. Opp of Plymouth; A. C. Chapin of Nanticoke; E. M. Dunham of Laporte; and Hon. I. K. Krickbaum, ex-associate Judge, who served on the bench of this county for five years with Judge Elwell.

Of the bar of Montour county, Joshua W. Comly, now retired from practice, but in his day one of the ablest lawyers in the state, James Scarlet, and William Kase West were present. Judge Hinckley was kept away by another engagement.

Of the Columbia county bar there were in attendance, Col. J. G. Freeze, C. W. Miller, L. E. Waller, W. E. Smith, G. Herring, R. R. Little, William Chrisman, A. N. Yost, N. U. Funk, A L. Fritz, H. V. White, C. C. Evans, E. R. Ikeler, C. B. Jackson, C. E. Geyer, W. H. Rhawn, A. K. Oswald, J. H. Maize, S. W. Dickson, B. F. Zarr, C. G. Barkley, L. S. Wintersteen, F. P. Billmeyer, Geo. E. Elwell, C. C. Peacock and A. C. Freas.

The pleasure of Judge Elwell was greatly enhanced by the presence of his only brother, Hon. Edward Elwell of Beaver Dam, Wisconsin, who occupied the bench in that state for one term, and who came on at this time to attend the banquet.

THE BANQUET.

It was after nine o'clock when the doors of the dining room were opened and the procession ushered out. The tables were set in shape of a paralellogram open at one end. At the head of the table which was the cross-table joining the two long ones, sat Col. Freeze, the toast-master, who was selected by the committee to preside, because he is the President of the Bar Association of Columbia county, one of the oldest members of the bar in the district, and was one of a committee of two, the late Wesley Wirt being the other one, who went to Sullivan county in 1862 to meet William Elwell, and invite him to accept the nomination for President Judge of the 26th district. At his right sat Judge Elwell, Judge Pershing, Judge McCollum, and at his left Gov. Davies, Joshua W. Comly, Hon. F. B. Gowen, and Judge Edward Elwell.

Down the outside of the tables were seated the other invited guests, and the members of the bar of the district occupied the inside.

The dinner was prepared by Kennedy of Wilkesbarre, and the menu was as follows:

Blue Points on Half Shell.

Green Turtle Soup.

Boiled Salmon with Sauce Hollandaise.
Cucumbers.

Tenderloin of Beef with Mushrooms.

Roman Punch.

Venison, Currant Jelly,
Quail on Toast,
Celery, Saratoga Potatoes

Salad of Luttuce,
Roquefort Cheese,
Wafers and Olives.

Napolitaine Ice Cream,
Wine Jelly, Cake.
Fruit, Nuts,
Coffee.

The operation of disposing of the delicious food occupied until 12 o'clock, and then Col. Freeze rapped for order and addressed the assembly in these words:

GENTLEMEN OF THE BENCH AND BAR.

On behalf of the Bar of Columbia and Montour counties I most cordially welcome you to our hospitalities.

The brotherhood of the Bar has been proverbial throughout its whole history, and it must needs be so among educated gentlemen, imbued with the spirit of their profession, The enforcement of the right and the punishment of the wrong. In all our legal battles, on that one point we ought to be of one mind.

Whatever may be said in praise of other professions or callings, I venture to assert that there is no body of men on the face of the globe more distinguished for learning, for honesty and for devotion to the public good, than the members of the legal profession.

Whether as Judges upon the Bench, or as Advocates at the Bar, they have the same high duty and purpose.

It was well said by a most distinguished lawyer, that "Advocates are as ancient as magistrates, as noble as virtue, as necessary as justice."

Mr. Justice Sargeant said: "The Advocate has his share of influence in every government where property and rights are secured by laws;" but that "it is in a perfectly free system like ours that the lawyer attains the highest standing, because he is the administrator of that which demands from every class, implicit obedience."

We are assembled here to-night for the purpose of paying our respects to and acknowledging our admiration for an administrator of the law, who for more than half a century has been an ornament of our profession, and for more than a quarter of a century has occupied the Bench, and adorned his court with a dignity and urbanity which never failed, and a learning and integrity which have made his name honored and quoted throughout the Commonwealth.

William Elwell was admitted to the Bar of the county of Bradford, in February 1833, and came upon the bench in Columbia County for the 26th Judicial District comprising the counties of Columbia, Wyoming and Sullivan, on the first Monday of Dec. 1862. He was three times elected in the District without opposition, and very early in his judicial career his distinguished abilities and sound legal learning and judgment made him so conspicuous that his services, in important and intricate cases, were in demand in all the neighboring counties; and not only that, but in many instances, causes were certified to Columbia County in order that they might be tried before him.

I have seen as advocates before him in our Court, the most distinguished lawyers in the state. I may be allowed to name on this occasion: Judge Jeremiah S. Black, Judge George W. Woodward, Judge John W. Maynard, Hon. Franklin B. Gowen, Gov. Henry M. Hoyt, Judge Edward Owen Parry, Judge F. Carroll Brewster, Hon. Francis W. Hughes, Mr. Atty. Genl. Palmer, with many other gifted and able men.

If I were to attempt a sketch of the official life of the Honorable William Elwell I should go back almost fifty years, and say that as a legislator, he is the author of the statute abolishing Imprisonment for debt—as a lawyer, that more than a hundred cases in the books attest to his forensic contests before the Supreme Court—as a Judge, that he presided at the trial of the most important criminal and civil causes, which, during his incumbency, have been before the courts of this state.

But I need not attempt it—all these things are written in the books of the laws, and there they will remain forever; and I beg leave therefore to offer as the first toast of the evening the following:

OUR GUEST. Closing a Judicial life fruitful with judicial learning, adorned with virtue, a true citizen, a steadfast friend, a benevolent man, we tender our retiring Presiding Judge this tribute to his character and worth.

When the applause with which these remarks were greeted had died away, Judge Elwell arose and said:

MR. CHAIRMAN.—I scarcely know how to reply to that toast and the kind words which you have employed in regard to myself on its introduction. It is not of itself an honor that one has been given long life professionally and officially. It is not the length of time that one has held a public office, but the manner in which he has performed its duties that entitles him to credit or otherwise. I thank the members of the bar for the opportunity to meet them all, together with the distinguished gentlemen whom they have invited from other districts to join them in this act of courtesy tendered to me on the occasion of my retiring from the bench.

I began practice as the chairman has stated at an early day in the northern counties of the commonwealth. The country was comparatively new. The facilities for travel by public conveyances were of the most meagre kind. Elliptic springs to carriages were not invented. The judge and members of the bar usually traveled on horseback. I frequently rode in that way fifty miles in a day in order to reach a county seat in the western part of the district. The accommodations then were of the most primitive character. The court was convened by the sound of the dinner horn blown by the crier. The small room was warmed by a wood stove and the work at evening was done by the light of tallow candles. But there were shining lights at the bar in the northern counties at that time, Ellis Lewis subsequently chief justice of the state, Anson V. Parsons, R. G. White, John W. Maynard and Horace Williston, my preceptor whose name I always mention with reverence, all subsequently judges of eminence, were among the foremost at the bar at that day.

The difficulties which we at that time labored under for want of better facilities for travel I cannot better illustrate than by stating an experience of my own. In 1832 a sheriff sale took place in Tioga county on a writ issued from the district court of York county. The sale was alleged to have been fraudulent. I was then a student. It was necessary that some one should go at once to prevent the acknowledgement of the deed. I was sent by my preceptor. On my journey to the borough of York, I passed through Berwick, Bloomsburg and Danville. Stopping at a hotel in Bloomsburg I saw there engaged in an arbitration men whom I did not then know, but who afterward I found to be Robert C. Grier, afterward a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Le Grand Bancroft and others. I reached the borough of York on Monday morning the fourth day after I started and reached the court house just in time to hear the crier announce that the sheriff of Tioga county was about to acknowledge a deed. The proceedings were stopped and the sale was subsequently set aside. Now instead of a long, hurried and tedious journey the lawyer of to-day would first by telegram and then by mail transact the business that I was sent to accomplish without leaving his office.

Improvements in constitutions and laws and in the practice of the law have kept pace with improvements in the material world. Chancery jurisdiction has been conferred upon the courts of the commonwealth. The common law in many matters has been changed by statute. Technicalities in respect to form of action and pleading are almost entirely abrogated by the Wolverton bill. The rights, powers, and liabilities of married persons are now defined by statute instead of by common law. Lord Coke said of himself that if asked a question in regard to the common law he would be ashamed not to be able to answer it at once, but if asked a question in regard to a matter regulated by statute, he would be ashamed to give an answer without the statute before him. To this I would add that in these days of much legislation it would be prudent when considering questions dependent of the common law to consult the statute book also in order to ascertain whether there had not been a change.

In the practice in courts great changes have been made to facilitate the despatch of business. Formerly it was the practice in the Supreme court to take books cited into the court and in oral arguments read them. I remember one occasion when a lawyer was reading a lengthy report containing only some commonplace principle, when he was interrupted by Chief Justice Gibson saying "You need not read that to us, you ought to take it for granted that this court knows something." It was after that when the present rule was adopted which in effect forbids the former practice.

If any honor is due for the administration of the law in this district the Bar is entitled to share it with the Court. It is a trite saying that a good bar makes a good bench. While the Judge has great responsibilities, his labors may be greatly lightened by able lawyers who industriously perform their duty in the light of their professional obligations.

The profession is at this time burdened by the multiplication of books. The key note on that subject was struck by Justice Miller of the Supreme Court of the United States a few days since. I commend his remarks to the profession. "Very many of the text books are mere digests got up by the job, by book publishers. Of course there must of necessity be many books, but a less number more thoroughly perused would be quite as well as a great number little read.

There is one subject I desire to mention a subject in which I have now no personal interest, I refer to the compensations to the Judiciary. The State of Pennsylvania does not pay her judges as they ought to be paid. They spend the best part of their lives in her service. They are unfitted for other business if they are obliged to retire from the bench, and while they are engaged in that service they can lay up but little for the future.

Gentlemen of the Bar for this courtesy and those which you have at all times shown me I am most profoundly grateful. During our association as judge and members of the bar our relation has been of the most cordial character. It is not probable that opportunity will ever again occur when I shall meet you all, and these respected friends. I shall always cherish in my memory the regard and respect which you have shown me. I wish you all success in your profession, may you be blest with health and all things that combine to make life happy and enjoyable.

Col. Freeze then announced as the next toast, "The Judiciary," and called upon Judge Pershing to respond, which he did most appropriately. The next toast was "The Bar," and was responded to by Mr. Gowen in an eloquent address. "The State" was responded to by Gov. Davies, who said that one of the rules of an after dinner speech was that the speaker was permitted to talk about everything except the subject assigned him, and that both of the gentlemen who preceded him had violated this rule. He then paid a beautiful tribute to Judge Elwell, with whom he studied law, and whom he had known for many years.

This was the end of the regular toasts. In response to calls all the other Judges present, Messrs. Palmer, Payne, Kaercher, Munson, Overton and Mercur responded, all of whom spoke in the highest terms of the retiring Judge. Mr. Mercur concluded by alluding to the early morning hour to which the festivities had already continued and thought it was time to adjourn, and he proposed that the company arise and drink the health of their distinguished guest. This was done as the hands of the old clock on the wall indicated the hour of three o'clock in the morning, and then the dining hall was deserted, and after a half hour's pleasant converse in the parlor, the company dispersed and retired to their homes and rooms, hoping to snatch a few moments' slumber before the sun appeared in the eastern horizon.

The committee having this matter in charge were Messrs. Miller, Waller, Maize, Zarr, Scarlet, West and Baldy, and as the affair was a grand success in every way, it is owing to the excellent management of those members of the committee who were active in the matter and brought it to so satisfactory a conclusion.

The speeches of the evening were all admirable, and we regret that we are not able to report them in full.

N. S. Walker, the official sterographer of this district who has held his appointment under Judge Elwell for a number of years, declined the invitation to be present without assigning any special reason therefor, and so the services of Mr. Simmons of Danville were secured, and full notes were taken of all the proceedings. It is probable that they wil be printed in full in book form.

It would be unfair not to say that the success of the banquet was largely assisted by the excellant service of Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs of the exchange Hotel and their assistants. Everything possible was done for the comfort of the guests, and during the evening the remark was made many times that the town was blessed with a public house equal in all it appointments to most of the city hotels.

By noon next day the visitors had all departed, and the most brilliant and distinguished gathering that had ever assembled in Bloomsburg was among the things of the past. No Judge that has retired from the bench either by expiration of the term or by resignation, has ever received a higher recognition of his service than did William Elwell on October 19, 1888.

WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, Oct. 22, 1888.

A big edition of our illustrated "Housekeeping Art" went out with a rush. Ten thousand more just here. Practical hints for beautifying the home and some price telling that will come handy. To be had in the Furniture Department, or sent to your address for the asking.

The cheapest Side Band Dress Stuff in the market is here—75 cents. Foulé serge, cloth weight, and in four of as neat designs as you'll find. Not so pronounced as to be obstructive. Modest, quiet. Band of mildly contrasting cluster stripes. Each style in 10 colors:

olive hunter's green
myrtle green
plum mahogany dark brown
golden brown
navy
2 gobelins

If you prize exclusiveness, there's no danger that the Side Bands will become common. In some of the colors but one piecé. No one else has them. No more for us. Think of it; handsome, exclusive, fashionable, seasonable stuffs at 75c!

Heavy, wiry serge, plump 50 inches, a dozen proper shades, 50c. As good wearing value for the money as we ever gave.

Fresh styles among the Ulsterings almost every day. One of the latest is in dark shades with indistinct small plaids. An overplaid effect comes from the specky glint of white and colored silk threads. Proper Fall weight, strong, handsome 54 in., and $2.50.

Beavers, Astrakhans, Seal Cloths, and the seasonable stuffs in bewildering array.

Table and Piano Covers. A big corner of the Upholstery is heaped with them. New ideas, novel designs; fuller than ever of sunlight for the room.

Bresilienne Tapestry Table Covers. Silky to the eye. Small table to piano size, $1.50 to $5.

Persian Tapestry, $3 to $8.50.

German Tapestry, $2 to $4.50.

Price 50c. and $1. Trial size free. At all druggists.

TO PRESERVE NATURAL FLOWERS.—Dip the flowers in melted paraffine, withdrawing them quickly. The liquid should be only just hot enough to maintain its fluidity and the flowers should be dipped one at a time, held by the stocks and moved about for an instant to get rid of air bubbles. Fresh cut flowers, free from moisture, make excellent specimens in this way. If you would preserve your health and invigorate your entire system use Perrine's Pure Barley Malt Whiskey. For sale by C. B. Robbins, Bloomsburg, Pa [eow.

THE POPULATION OF BLOOMSBURG is about 5,000, and we would say at least one-half are troubled with some affection of the throat and lungs as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs. Price 50c. and $1. Trial size free. Sold by all druggists.

NOTICE IN DIVORCE.

Sadie Koons, by her next friend A. J. Evans, vs. Alfred Koons.
In the Court of Common Pleas of Columbia county, No. 46, May Term, 1888.

To Alfred Koons, respondent above named:

Whereas, upon the petition or libel of the said Sadie Koons, above named, a subpœna being awarded by the Court of Common Pleas of said county, a subpœna issued out of the said Court, commanding you, the said Alfred Koons, to be and appear at the next regular term of said Court, to show cause, if any you have, why the said libellant should not be divorced from the bonds of matrimony which she has contracted with you, agreeably to the prayer of said petitioner; and whereas upon the return of the said subpœna, due proof was made that you could not be found or served with the same in the bailiwick of the sheriff of said county; whereupon an alias subpœna was awarded by the said court, commanding you to be and appear at the then next regular term of said court, to answer, &c. as aforesaid, to which the same return was made by the Sheriff.

You are therefore required to be and appear on the first day of regular term of said court, to be held at Bloomsburg, for the said county, on the first Monday of December next, A. D. 1888, to answer the complaint aforesaid.

nov19 SAMUEL SMITH, Sheriff.

NOTICE IN DIVORCE.

JEREMIAH GROSS, vs. SARAH GROSS. } No. 134 May T. 1888. Divorce.
In the Court of Common Pleas of Columbia County.

To Sarah L. Gross, respondent above named:

Whereas, upon the petition or libel of the said Jeremiah Gross, above named, a subpœna being awarded by the Court of Common Pleas of said county, a subpœna issued out of the said Court, commanding you, the said Sarah L. Gross, to be and appear at the next regular term of said court, to show cause, if any you have, why the said libellant shall not be divorced from the bonds of matrimony which he has contracted with you, agreeably to the prayer of said petitioner; and, whereas, upon the return of the said subpœna, due proof was made that you could not be found or served with the same in the bailiwick of the sheriff of said county; whereupon an alias subpœna was awarded by the said court, commanding you to be and appear at the then next regular term of said court, to answer, &c., as aforesaid, to which the same return was made by the sheriff.

You are therefore required to be and appear on the first day of regular term of said court, to be held at Bloomsburg, for the said county, on the first Monday of December next, A. D., 1888, to answer the complaint aforesaid.

W. H. BROOKE & CO.

The season of the year is here when you live almost entirely indoors.

This is the time to beautify yourhomes by papering them, and why put it off till spring; these rooms will look just as well then as if you put it off till spring to do the work and you will have the use of them.

We can show a stock of wall paper that in size and beauty is second to none in the county. These are the best goods from the best makers. The prices are in accordance with the value of the goods.

We have some wall paper remnants, these accumulate in any business, they must move off to make room for new goods. The question is, does your room fit.

We have just opened a line of fine ladies' fashionable pocket books. The new style stretches the length into width.

W. H. BROOKE & Co.,
Successors to G. A. Clark.

The Teacher

Who advised her pupils to strengthen their minds by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, appreciated the truth that bodily health is essential to mental vigor. For persons of delicate and feeble constitution, whether young or old, this medicine is remarkably beneficial. Be sure you get Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring and fall I take a number of bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and am greatly benefited."—Mrs. James H. Eastman, Stoneham, Mass.

"I have taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla with great benefit to my general health." —Miss Thirza L. Crerar, Palmyra, Md.

"My daughter, twelve years of age, has suffered for the past year from General Debility.

A few weeks since, we began to give her Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Her health has greatly improved."—Mrs. Harriet H. Battles, South Chelmsford, Mass.

"About a year ago I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for debility and neuralgia resulting from malarial exposure in the army. I was in a very bad condition, but six bottles of the Sarsaparilla, with occasional doses of Ayer's Pills, have greatly improved my health. I am now able to work, and feel that I cannot say too much for your excellent remedies."—F. A. Pinkham, South Moluncus, Me.

"My daughter, sixteen years old, is using Ayer's Sarsaparilla with good effect."—Rev. S. J. Graham, United Brethren Church, Buckhannon, W. Va.

"I suffered from

Nervous Prostration,

with lame back and headache, and have been much benefited by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I am now 80 years of age, and am satisfied that my present health and prolonged life are due to the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Lucy Moffitt, Killingly, Conn.

Mrs. Ann H. Farnsworth, a lady 79 years old, So. Woodstock, Vt., writes: "After several weeks' suffering from nervous prostration, I procured a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken half of it my usual health returned."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

H. V. WHITE, secretary.

Visitors to Paris will henceforth have a place to visit, little known to the mass of tourists hitherto. This is the "Museum of the History of Paris," in the Hotel Carnavalet, described and illustrated in HARPER'S MAGAZINE for November, by Theodore Child. There, it seems, may be seen thousands of curious relics illustrating the history and the life of the Parisians—from the medals and coins of yesterday and to-day back to the Gallo-Roman period and the darkness that preceded it. The explanation of the coat of arms of the city of Paris, the reason for the adoption of the tricolored flag of the Republic, the relation of Benjamin Franklin to the expression ca ira of the Revolutionists, and many other points of singular interest are brought out by Mr. Child. Much history is wrought into the texture of the article, which will attract the careful student as well as those who merely live to read about curious things. The excellence of the illustrations is manifest at a glance.

New Jersey Anchored.

While it has been generally conceded that New Jersey is most likely to vote for Cleveland in November, it was regarded as remotely doubted and Republican success claimed as among the possibilities of the contest; but the municipal election of Newark on Monday last will be accepted by all dispassionate political observers as anchoring the State in the Cleveland column.

Newark is the principal finger-board of New Jersey in Presidential years, and it is always bitterly contested by both parties because it is expected to indicate the popular drift of the State. Four years ago the Republicans carried it by 1500 majority, and that was the first notice to the Democrats of the positive defection of the Irish vote to Blaine. It was an admonition to the Democrats that the State was trembling in the balance, and they saved it in November by only 4,412 majority after extraordinary efforts.

This year both parties stripped for this preliminary battle to win prestige for November. It was the best possible field for testing the effect of the Mills bill, as Newark is a manufacturing centre and the Republicans hoped for substantial gains on that issue. The battle was fought squarely on the question of reducing war taxes and giving our manufacturers raw materials; there were no local complications of any kind to weaken or aid either side, and both were fairly equipped for the struggle. The result surprised the Republicans, as it proved conclusively that the industrial vote was thrown very largely in favor of tariff and tax reform.

Had the Republicans held their own in the Newark election, they would now feel encouraged to battle for the State, but a sweep of more than 2,000 in favor of the Democrats over their strength four years ago, proves beyond a doubt that the tariff issue will aid the Democrats in New Jersey, and that effaces the last hope of the Republicans as to the electorial vote. They will still make an earnest battle to save the Legislature and thus secure a United States Senator in place of McPherson, as they have special advantage in that contest because of the Legislative districts and their majority of Senators who hold over; but all level-headed calculators of every party will at once strike New Jersey from the list of doubtful States in November. Her vote is as certain for Cleveland as the vote of Vermont is for Harrison.—World.

WARNER'S LOG CABIN REMEDIES.—"Sarsaparilla,"—"Cough and Consumption Remedy,"—"Hops and Buchu,"—"Extract,"—"Hair Tonic,"—"Liver Pills,"—"Plasters,"(Porous Electrical),—"Rose Cream," for Catarrh. They are, like Warner's "Tippecanoe," the simple, effective remedies of the old Log Cabin days.

The Dangers of Idleness.

The necessity of labor for human happiness is at present strikingly shown in the state prisons of New York. Owing to some neglect by the legislature the convicts are left without employment. The result is a great increase in insanity. One of the physicians recently resigned, giving as a reason that constant idleness would produce a condition of misery that he would be powerless to alleviate. Besides, as men are constantly going insane the danger to keepers, physicians and attendants greatly increases. While kept at work comparatively few become sick, and occasionally does one become insane. Idleness has filled the hospitals, and an average of three every week become unmanageable and are sent off to the insane asylums. It really seems that when a convict is sentenced to a term of years at hard labor he is entitled to relief if the conditions are not [illegible] all respects fully complied with. Confinement in idleness may indeed be so much worse than confinement at work as to come within the list of cruel and unusual punishments forbidden by the United States constitution.—Boston Budget.

"We Point With Pride"

To the "Good name at home," won by Hood's Sarsaparilla. In Lowell, Mass., where it is prepared, there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold than of all other medicines, and it has given the best of satisfaction since its introduction ten years ago. This could not be if the medicine did not possess merit. If you suffer from impure blood, try Hood's Sarsaparilla and realize its peculiar curative power.

Turns Back the Hand of Progress.

The refusal of the Senate to give our manufacturers and our labor the benefit of the free list of raw materials, is simply a monstrous assault upon American capital, American labor and American consumers. It is in defiance of the earnest teachings of Republican Presidents Grant, Arthur and Garfield, and is at war with every principle of justice to labor and justice to consumers. It is turning backwards the hands of progress into the darkness of Chinese walled theories, and is a fearful confession that there can be no relief to either capital or labor without an imperious demand from the people in the coming election. It is an appalling declaration that the highest war taxes on the necessaries of business and of life shall be continued indefinitely, and that high taxes and low wages shall be the only hope of American workingmen. It is the policy of madness; the policy of oppressing the many for the benefit of the few, and it is the most flagrant assault that was ever made upon the capital, labor and consumers since the formation of the Republic. It is mean partisan jugglery with taxation; nothing more, nothing less.—Philadelphia Times.

People Pay Heavy Bills

For medical attendance and medicine. Sickness is expensive, and those with small incomes feel this burden keenly. The physician must sometimes be called but he is not needed one-tenth as often as many think. What is required is a family medicine; one that will relieve and cure those ailments which are liable to come at any season and to attack both sexes and all ages. Amid the host of articles that are offered to the public for this purpose nearly all are useless or worse than useless. It is no vain boast to say that the medicine herein mentioned is of a very different character. What it has done is known to multitudes of persons whom it has cured of weary and painful diseases. It has saved time, money and many dear and precious lives. Now please understand that as the life is in the blood so disease and death are in the blood. Get the poison out of the blood and life and health at once return to every part of the body. Dr. Brown's Sarsaparilla does this work quickly and surely through its direct and positive action upon the stomach, bowels, kidneys, liver and skin. For all waste and corrupt elements must be cast off by means of those channels. Rheumatism, scrofula, bronchitis, gout consumption, malaria, catarrh, hay fever, all skin affections and eruptions are diseases of the blood.

Mr. Geo. H. Wish, of the firm of Thaxter & Wish, Bangor, Me., was afflicted with a scrofulous humor which caused troublesome sores upon both his legs. Many remedies were used and several physicians consulted, without result. After taking Brown's Sarsaparilla a short time he was better, and soon the eruptions disappeared and he is now all right. This is only one of a thousand victories gained by

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

My Poor Back!

That's the common exclamation of those suffering with rheumatism or kidney troubles. In either disease Paine's Celery Compound will surely effect a cure, and there will no longer be any cause to complain of "poor backs." Hundreds of testimonials like the following confirm our claims for that grand old remedy, Paines's Celery Compound:

"Two weeks ago I could not sleep more than an hour at a time any night, was constipated and kidneys did not act, and had a good deal of pain in the back. Since I took Paine's Celery Compound the pain has left my back, and I can sleep like a child." Zenas Sanders, West Windsor, Vermont.

"Having been troubled with rheumatism for five years, I was almost unable to get around, and was very often confined to my bed for weeks at a time. I have used nearly all medicines imaginable, besides outside advices, but to no advantage. Having seen Paine's Celery Compound advertised, I gave it a trial. I have used only one bottle and am perfectly cured. I can now jump around and feel lively as a boy." Frank Caroll, Eureka, Nevada. Price, $1.00. Six for $5.00.

The Richmond Exposition—Half rates via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The great Richmond Exposition, which has now been in successful operation for two weeks, promises to retain the favor of the public to the end. Its great exhibit of tobacco, the products, materials, and fine stock of the South, with all its numberless special features, form one of the most interesting displays of the kind ever seen. The city of Richmond itself, with its colonial and revolutionary associations, war memories, and contemporaneous interest, is well worth a visit, which can never be more pleasantly made than at this season. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in order to place the trip within the power of every one, is selling round-trip tickets to Richmond every Monday and Thursday, until and including November 19th, good for return passage until November 26th, 1888, at a single fare for the round trip.

Two Trains Meet at a Curve.

ANOTHER TERRIBLE RAILROAD CATASTROPHE.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., Oct. 16.—A wreck occured on the Pottsville division of the Lehigh Valley railroad near Tamarend about 8 o'clock this morning between the Lehigh gravel train and a Pennsylvania railroad fast freight. The flagman did not get back far enough to signal the freight which struck the caboose of the gravel train, the latter containing a batch of Hungarian laborers, six of whom were instantly killed, twenty-six were injured, two of them dying while being carried to the hospital. The gravel train was backing on a siding when the freight train approached at a high rate of speed and went crashing into the cars ahead.

The news of the wreck was immediately telegraphed to the railroad officers who arrived in a short time and did all in their power to make it comfortable for the suffering ones. Several physicians were summoned. The injured were removed to the Miner's hospital at Ashland, and as they were all Hungarians, with two exceptions, no names could be secured. The Deputy coroner of Tamarend empanelled a jury and testimony will be taken to-morrow. The killed and injured men were all on the gravel train with the exception of the brakemen of the Pennsylvania train, who was killed on his own train. So far as is known the responsibility rests upon the shoulders of the flagman who failed to flag the freight in time to prevent the accident.

A new and dangerous counterfeit $5 silver certificate, fairly well executed, is being circulated. It is of series "D" with figures of 2011 and 2017 in very small characters under the denominational number. The words "Register of the Treasury" under the autograph of W. S. Rosencrans seem irregular, while in the genuine they are very handsomely printed. The portrait of General Grant looks like a wood cut and an expert would detect the counterfeit at once.

Proper Bible Wine.

Alfred Speer, who has large vineyards near Passaic, N. J., is extensively engaged in preserving Unfermented Grape Juice from the Oporto Grapes and supplies it to many religious societies for communion purposes. The following is from Dr. John Ellis, who has written several works on Bible wine: "The writer obtained from Mr. Speer a bottle of his Unfermented Wine and found it a very pleasant and nutritious wine. A chemist put a portion of this wine into a retort and distilled and condensed about one third of the contents of the retort. The distilled had neither the smell nor the taste of alcohol, nor did chemical tests indicate any trace of alcohol."

Gentlemen—I can cheerfully and truthfully say that S. S. S. is the greatest blood purifier on earth. In 1884 I contracted blood poison. Physicians treated me with no good results. I took a half dozen different kinds of blood medicines, but, without receiving any permanent relief! I was induced to try S. S. S. I began the first bottle with the gravest doubts of success. I had been so often deceived. But improvement came, and I continued its use until perfectly well. I have since married, and have a healthy family. No trace of the disease is seen. Swift's Specific did all this for me, and I am grateful. Yours truly,

MASON & HAMLIN

The cabinet organ was introduced in its present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861. Other makers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world.

Mason & Hamlin offer, as demonstration of the unequalled excellence of their organs, the fact that at all of the great World's Exhibitions, since that of Paris, 1867, in competition with best makers of all countries, they have invariably taken the highest honors. Illustrated catalogues free.

ORGANS

$22 TO $900.

Mason & Hamlin do not hesitate to make the extraordinary claim for their pianos, that they are superior to all others. They recognize the high excellence achieved by other leading makers in the art of piano building, but still claim superiority. This they attribute solely to the remarkable improvement introduced by them in the year 1882, and now known as the "MASON & HAMLIN PIANO STRINGER," by the use of which is secured the greatest possible purity and refinement of tone, together with greatly increased capacity for standing in tune and other important advantages.

Murdered by Highwaymen.

TWO PAYMASTERS KILLED ON A WILKESBARRE MOUNTAIN.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 19—A most daring robbery and murder occured this morning a few miles from here on the Wilkesbarre mountain. Two paymasters, John B. McClure and J. Flanagan, of Philadelphia, and their horse, were shot dead, and a sum of money, amounting to $12,000, in their possession was taken by the murderers. Ths murdered men were on their way to pay the workmen on McFadden's new branch of the Lehigh Valley railroad between Mill Creek and Laurel run. They were riding along in a buggy through a strip of woods to the place where the payments were to be made, when the highwaymen stepped out of the woods, and, crying "Halt!" they shot the horse dead and also both the paymasters. The money was in a box and was composed of gold and silver, which the robbers took and fled at once for parts unknown. The daring act has caused a great deal of excitement here, and all efforts are being made by police, detectives and citizens to capture the villains.

Shortly after the Wyoming national bank opened this morning Mr. McClure, accompanied by his assistant, Hugh Flanagan, called at the bank and drew from that institution $12,000 which had been sent from Philadelphia to the bank by Contractor McFadden a few days ago. Leaving Wilkesbarre about 10 o'clock, McClure and Flanagan drove to Miner's Mills, where they turned off up the rough mountain road. About a mile from town is a lonely place, the road being boarded with pine trees and brush. Here it is probable that they encountered the robbers who stepped out on either side of the road as if to let them pass. As they did so the robbers fired three shots at Flanagan, one bullet passing through his heart, another through his neck, and the third struck him between the left eye and ear. Another robber, meantime, was firing at McClure, but as two bullet holes in a pine tree indicate, they failed to take effect and the horse ran away. When it had gone about a hundred feet Flanagan fell from the buggy to the ground. Two more shots were then fired at McClure, taking effect in his back, when he too fell, but caught on to the step and was dragged nearly half a mile. Another shot was fired at McClure which entered his left eye and tore of the top of his head. When the robbers came to Flanagan's body they struck him on the forehead, crushing his skull. As McClure's horse was a spirited one it was impossible for the robbers to overtake him. But a third party was in waiting at the top of the hill who shot the horse as he came up. The robbers then took from the buggy the valise containing the money and escaped to the woods. Within ten minutes es Contractor McFadden came down from the railroad camp and found the horse standing still alive and McClure's dead body under the buggy. McFadden drove back to the camp, secured aid and again drove down. They then discovered that the murder and robbery had been committed, and driving down the road they found Flanagan's body. Coming to town they gave the alarm and soon the country was swarming with officers and volunteers. Arrests have been made, but they were not the parties wanted. The robbers were armed with breech-loading rifles. Flanagan was 50 years old and quite well to do. McClure was 25 years of age, his home being at Downingtown, Chester county, where his mother and two sisters reside. Detectives OBrien and Hefferman returned at a late hour this evening from the search for the robbers and express the opinion that the murder was the work of Hnugarians or Italians. An inquest was held on the bodies by the coroner this evening. The testimony taken was of no importance, except as to the suspicious actions of a young Italian whose name is with-held at present, and who was a clerk for the boarding house master at the works. He has been at Mill Creek station this morning acting in a peculiar manner. The inquest was adjourned. The detectives arrested the Italian but he was allowed to go later on, as he promised to aid them in finding the murderers. He is being shadowed at every step, as it is believed he knows something about the affair.

A Good Chance to Make Money.

We call the especial attention of persons in need of profitable employment to the advertisement of Messrs. A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn., in another column. They want men and women to act as agents for Mary A. Livermore's recent book, "My story of the War." It is a famous book, magnificently illustrated, and Mrs. Livermore's narrative of her own experience as a hospital nurse for four years during the war is a tale of thrilling interest. Agents are doing wonderfully well with it. Lady agents are especially successful, and good workers right in this vicinity can do a paying business with this volume between now and Christmas. Read the advertisement and send to the publishers for their terms to agents. The book and its publishers are both first-class.
